GUARANTEES
Have you been told when you buy appliances that the guarantee is prorated? What does this really mean? A pro-rated guarantee is different from other guarantees. It means that the manufacturer who agrees to repair or replace the item, the costs of which will be borne entirely by the manufacturer, at the beginning of the guarantee period, and which will be shared by the customer in increasing proportions until the end of the guarantee period.

OUTDOOR FURNITURE
Is your outdoor furniture beginning to look aged and worn? It will only take a few minutes to spruce it up. First, give it a thorough cleaning with a mild detergent. Rinse and dry thoroughly. Apply a coat of paste wax to the aluminum area. If the joints are a little hard to work, use a silicone lubricant instead of oil. Oil leaves a residue which collects dust and dirt. To beautify and freshen redwood furniture, once a year apply a coat of wood sealer made especially for redwood.

FIG ICE CREAM
This last week when I was at the New Hope Extension Homemakers Club, Mrs. Anglen Pittman told the group about how she made fig ice cream. To a regular recipe of vanilla ice cream, Mrs. Pittman adds fresh figs which have been skinned and seeds removed. She did not specify the number of figs to use but enough to give it a good flavor. Mrs. Robert Lee also said she had tried the ice cream and found it to be most delicious.

STEAK
For greatest eating satisfaction, make sure that you pick a steak that is or rib steak. All will be too thin, you may find it hard to cook medium rare, they are top U.S. grad. These cuts are also excellent for outdoor cooking.

Navy Reserve Seeking Young Trainees

Although it is presently only midsummer, for many students their senior year of high school is fast approaching. College plans have already been established by some of these students, but many others remain undecided about their pursuits upon graduation. College plans should begin early, and no student should overlook consideration of one of the Navy's finest college training officers candidate programs - the Regular Navy Reserve Officers Training Corps (NROTC) - deciding upon his college plans.

The Regular NROTC is a program designed to train career officers for the Navy and Marine Corps. The program includes payment by the Navy of tuition, educational fees, textbooks, uniforms, and provides a $50 monthly subsistence allowance to its members for four years. Selected candidates are enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve and are appointed midshipmen upon enrollment in college.

Investigate this program now by requesting a 1969 Regular NROTC Bulletin of Information from any U. S. Navy Recruiting Station or from the Chief of Naval Personnel (Pers-5041), Department of the Navy, Washington, D. C. 20370.

City Elections Are Planned For Tuesday

Elba's city elections are just around the corner with next Tuesday, August 13th being the date set by state law for holding the city elections.

There are six positions up for grabs this year with all five councilmembers and the mayor post up before the voters. All incumbents are running except Councilman Al Folsom. Owen Zigler, who is not seeking re-election.

Three races have three candidates trying for election. They are Ward 3 and Ward 4, city councilmen. Incumbent councilman in these races are Ray Trammell and Bob Folsom. Opposing Trammell is Charles W. Jacobs and Elmer Bowman, both making their first attempt at public office. Opposing Folsom are Mace Cook and Gus McCall. Cook was defeated by Folsom four years ago in a run-off after beating Folsom in the first election. McCall is making his first appearance in city politics.

In the Councilman-at-Large race three newcomers are vying for the council seat. They are Charles Lindsey, John Garrett and Sam Sawyer. The other races pit veteran councilman Cleo Hawkins against Robert Newton, Newton was defeated four years ago for the same post. Councilman Donnie Morrow is running to retain his seat on the council and is opposed by a newcomer to politics, Lamar Daniels.

The mayor's race pits longtime mayor L. P. Mullins against newcomer, Jack Brunson. Each of the candidates have appeared to us to be conducting the campaign as the fine gentlemen we know they are and the Elba Clipper offers no advice to voters, publicly or privately, except VOTE.

Whom ever is elected, it would be satisfying to know that most of the 1700 voters in Elba expressed their opinion on election day.

Twelve Month Schools Are Tried

A "community school" program to keep a city's schools open year-round with additional funds for the entire family is being conducted in Wilmington, Delaware, as a result of a special grant from the DuPont Company, according to Dr. Gene A. Geisert, Superintendent of Schools.

Dr. Geisert said that the grant from the Aid to Education Committee, has committed $50,000 a year for the next three years to help the implementation of this program. "The essence of the program is the active participation of residents in all phases of the school," Dr. Geisert explained. "The schools involved will remain open each weekday until 10 p. m. Educational, cultural, and recreational programs will be offered for all ages."

Music Schools Are Planned In Coffee County Churches

A county-wide school of music will be sponsored next week by the Coffee County Baptist Association. Classes will be held in the morning for Juniors (9-12) at First Baptist Church, Elba, as well as the First Baptist Church, Enterprise, Monday through Friday. Evening classes will be offered for Juniors through Adult age, beginning at 7:30 p. m. Monday through Friday (except Wednesday) at First Baptist Church, Elba.

Courses to be offered include "Beginning Music Reading," "Voice," "Organ and Piano," "Song Leading," "Using Music with Beginners and Pri- maries," "Biblical Foundations for Church Music," and a course for Juniors "Music in Bible Times." Following the class period each evening (except Wednesday) there will be a choir for each of three age groups: Junior Choir, Youth Choir and Adult Choir.

The faculty for the school will include local personnel as well as guest teachers. Those who will be teaching are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kerick, First Baptist Church Enterprise, Clyde Greer, Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church, Enterprise, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Little, First Baptist Church, Elba. Also assisting the school are Misses Diana Rowell, Headland, and Marcia Gwin of Gadsden, who are approved workers for the Alabama Baptist State Music Department for the summer.

MISS BEVERLY RAINER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Rainer, Jr., has been selected to serve as sponsor of the South All-Star football team when it meets the North All-Stars in Tuscaloosa tonight (Thursday). She will leave Elba today for the evening ballgame. Head coach for the South team is Elba's Leon Atkins. Playing on the team from Elba is Jerome Ward, a 1968 graduate of Elba High School.

First Baptist To Hear Glenn Smith

Guest minister at the First Baptist Church of Elba Sunday will be the Rev. Glenn A. Smith, Associate in the Training Union Department of the Alabama Baptist State Convention. He came to his present position from the pastorate of the Court Street Baptist Church of Montgomery.

Mr. Smith holds the Bachelor of Arts degree from Samford University, Birmingham, and the Bachelor of Divinity degree from Southern Seminary, Louisville, Ky. He is married to the former Evelyn Nicholson of Lafayette, Georgia, and they are the parents of three children, Mark and Adele.

SOME OF YOU MAY have grown careless with your voting habits and that could easily apply to the general election to be held next Tuesday.

It is a duty and a privilege to be able to vote your own convictions so go to the polls Tuesday and exercise that right. Vote for the man you think best qualified for the place. But by all means, vote.

OF INTEREST to people who are interested in politics is the March 1, 1967 report of voters in the State of Alabama. There were 1,381,158 voters on poll lists published in Alabama. The state has 1,379 voting precincts, and 3,537 voting machines that were used in the first Democratic primary last May 7.

Forty-one of the state's 67 counties now use voting machines to some extent.

A NEWSPAPER in Mesa, Arizona, The Tribune, said in an editorial recently "If you don't think American politics are funny, where else can you see the spectacle of men spending millions of dollars to get elected to a job that pays only 100 grand a year?"

ACCORDING TO A NEWS- release Tuesday, Stuart X. Stephenson, who has been writing The Passing Thru in the Montgomery Advertiser for many years, is now retiring. Stuart Stephenson has many friends over the State of Alabama who are going to miss his visits and his column.

We will miss Stuart Stephenson and his column in the Montgomery Advertiser. But we are glad that he is having the privilege of retiring. Now Mrs. Stephenson can have him mowing the lawn and doing the hundreds of other "little jobs around the house."

JEANE DIXON is often called a seer but she doesn't like the description. She believes her gift of prophecy is a gift of God. In early June she was in Pensacola and made a talk at the Feast of Five Flags VIP dinner, June 15.

Mrs. Dixon is a devout Catholic and attends mass daily. She begins her day by repeating the 23rd Psalm.

So many of her predictions happen that it frightens or is a delight when she makes a prediction. She predicted President Kennedy's tragic death and in February she predicted Senator Kennedy's tragic death. She said "I get a dark cloud around Senator Kennedy with strings that lead backward, which I interpret as a tragic event in which he is an unwilling participant."

She has made many other true predictions but one prediction she made in Birmingham early in the year did not happen according to her prediction though it scared the daylights out of some politicians. She

TALK ABOUT A COMBINE!

"The Lilliston 1500 is just a fine Peanut Combine, that's all there is to it," says Pat Riley. "Its clean picking, its speed and its separation are second to none."

predicted that Armistead Selden would defeat Jim Allen. We know what happened in that race. She has also predicted that Ex-Gov. George Wallace of Alabama would play a "significant and deciding factor" in the '68 election.

She forecast the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, and as far back as the early 50's she predicted the summer race riots of the mid-60's. The election of Gov. Ronald Reagan in California was among her prophecies.

One prediction that could happen and people with children born in '42 can wonder, she has predicted a child born in the Middle East in '62 would bring mankind together in one embracing faith in the 1980's.

Jeane's sixth sense has baffled all who know her, but because of it most of her friends turn instantly to her for advice when a major decision confronts them.

Some of her predictions could even touch people in Florida and some would probably come in for a "real shocker".

The final party of activity before the tourists discovered Nassau was during the "Morning Twenties," and a bit later illegal in the States, run runners set up a major base in Nassau. Some of the most beautiful homes in Nassau, according to our guide, were built by what is known as "rum-runners."

For flavor there are clubs "over the hill" where native girls swing to the beat of the Goombay drums and Nassau troubadours sing sly cabaret ditties about girls who shake their hips like a dung dog.

Nassau expresses it this way, "This is Nassau, an exciting, colorful island playground for the young and the old."

I think the gambling casinos sort of "bored" me. I just couldn't stand to see women, young and old and in-between, tossing out $20 bills at a lick for gambling chips. And pushing quarters into those contraptions called "slot-machines" just to get to pull that handle down was frightening. I tried to be a good sport and I did everything the rest did except gamble. I just couldn't stand to see those gambling joints to get even a quarter of mine. I was reminded that I should have at least gambled a little but I couldn't see where it would help my feelings to lose my money.

If you ever go to Nassau be sure to take a taxicab trip or rent a car and cover that entire island from the golf courses at the west to the East End Lighthouse; from Coral Harbour and the entire coast on the south and the places of interest in so much of the history. But the group I traveled with on this particular trip was great.

I thoroughly enjoyed my visit to Nassau and except to really get into the stream of the 15th land I would not want to go back. I was wealthy and could spend several weeks in Nassau, visiting a car and really seeing and digging into the history of the island. I would love it. But that is out of the question so I'll have to settle for the four days we did have the privilege of which was long enough to get the feel of the place, and long enough that my imagination is having a field day. If I can find someone to go with me I'll probably get the habit of flying and visit a few other places for the same reason.

Nassau is the capital of the Bahamas, and attracts approximately a half-million visitors each year. What I call the Chamber of Commerce of Nassau says, "Where else can you simultaneously enjoy the balmy climate of Hawaii, the continental flavor of the Riviera, the smart shops of Fifth Avenue, and the gracious hospitality of the deep South?"

winter forgot. A visit here is a journey you'll never regret, an island you'll never forget. It is a trip well worth taking - for a day, a week, or forever.

If I could forget wanting to cram so much of the historical story of the places I visit and just enjoy the tight side such as the night clubs, the regular scheduled tours, and probably enjoy it more but I don't think so. I like to dig down into the story of the place, who lived there in the beginning, who first landed on the island, etc. I can get so involved in that part of the interest that I sometimes find myself having to travel all by myself. Few are interested in so much of the history. But the group I traveled with on this particular trip was great.

allows flowers to bloom all year 'round in the Islands also ensures that human health blooms there. It is claimed that children grow stronger and old folks live longer in the Islands because of the benefits of sun and sea and the relatively low incidence of tropical diseases. There is no malaria, yellow or undulant fever or tapeworms. They claim in the Bahamas Islands this is due to the fact that they have a sub-tropical, not a tropical climate. It is claimed that the climate can do wonders in bringing relief to those who suffer from rheumatic and chest disorders. Doctors there claim that many crippled people of colder climates now live fully active lives. These doctors claim that most people with chest complaints, emphysema, for example, do very well there and that severe asthma sufferers are having a happy time. Dr. Meyer Rassin says that he has a good many citizens who have gone there to live and are doing very well, in their eighties, and even in their nineties. And I can't argue that it is not true - the report is supported by figures compiled by the Ministry of Health which shows the death rate is decidedly lower than in other countries.

The colors of the water are simply out-of-this world. I imagine that when Columbus first got to these Islands that he thought he had found the Garden of Eden. And there just might be something to this business that people live to grow older in the Bahamas - that the Eden-like atmosphere

JOBS HOUSING PROGRESSIVE GOVERNMENT

Many people have asked, "Why can't Elba get more industry? Why can't we keep industry? Why can't we get low cost housing? These are people are tired of Elba taking a "Back Seat" while neighboring cities get new jobs and housing.

I believe we can get new industry (jobs) and low cost housing if our city government

In canvassing our City, I've talked with teenagers in pool rooms, on street corners, and in homes. They're concerned because they don't have a place where they can meet and play under proper supervision. Now they have a choice of "burning up the highways," going to other towns, hanging around street corners, or worse.

QUALIFICATIONS INTEREST DESIRE

As a citizen, parent, and business man, I am interested in our City being a more progressive City, one in which all of us can take pride. I want our City to be a leader in opportunity for everyone.

For this reason, I am a candidate for the office of Mayor. I do not have anything against any person in the present administration. I simply feel that after my 15 years of business experience and my desire to live in, and have my children

417 Rural Accidents Are Reported By Patrolmen

Colonel Floyd H. Mann, Director of the State Department of Public Safety, announced that 417 traffic accidents on the rural highways of the state claimed 18 lives and 191 personal injuries during the past week.

Ran off the roadway type accidents replaced speed as the leading cause of traffic fatalities during the week, according to Colonel Mann, who admonished drivers to pay attention to driving every minute while in the steering wheel in order to combat this type of accident. He further suggested a check of brake and steering equipment before starting a trip.

Driving on the wrong side of the road was the second leading violation in fatal type accidents. Colonel Mann requested drivers to maintain control of their vehicles at all times and to drive defensively when meeting a driver of this type. He also suggested that drivers regard the center line of the road as a life line.

IT'S UP TO YOU
By
Howard F. Kershner, L.H.D.

A Safe Spending Limit

In recent years we have poured out about $150 billion of the for so-called foreign aid, administered by an army of Federal employees. This program has often created more misery than it has alleviated. By interfering with indigenous efforts we sometimes reduce the local food supply below what it would have been without our aid. People have sometimes stopped milking their own cows because it is easier to get powdered milk from Uncle Sam.

The fundamental difficulty with this whole program is the fact that men are not capable of understanding a worldwide economy or of planning how to carry it out effectively and efficiently. The job is too big and too complex for the planners to master. It needs the initiative of all the people working to advance their own interest in a free and flexible economy which shifts manpower, raw materials and capital quickly and easily away from industries, activities and services which are less in demand into others which are more in demand.

Another important fact is that human ingenuity is not able to devise methods of accounting and control properly to administer sums running into hundreds of billions of dollars every year. These vast uncontrolled expenditures give rise to innumerable opportunities for waste, kickbacks, favoritism, back-scratching, swollen payrolls and innumerable ways of siphoning off the public's money for the enrichment of individuals. Some of these scandals come to light but most of them are like an iceberg, only one-eighth of which is ever exposed to sunlight. The rest is submerged deeply below the water.

Students of the matter have concluded that when government spends more than one-quarter of the earnings of the people, it is on the way to destroying the economy. We are fast approaching the expenditure of about 40% of the income of the people for carrying on the activities of the various levels of government. As a result our difficulties multiply. Debt is on the upward-bound escalator and the purchasing power of the dollar is on the downward-moving stairway.

The only answer is to limit the function of government and to free the people to work out their own problems in their own way. This they can and will do if they are not saddled with excessive taxation destroying their initiative and absorbing the fruits of their labor.

Wearing cotton may be one way to keep well. Medical researchers have discovered that viruses live as long as cotton as they do on other fabrics. While a virus may live for three months on some fabrics, it will only last about three days on cotton. If the cotton is washed with a wash and wear chemical, the virus only lives one day.

Church decorations featured an arrangement of white gladioli, pompons, and chrysanthemums, candleabras holding burning white tapers against a background of native greenery flanked each side of the altar with a prayer bench forming the focal point.

(3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Please go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

VOTE YOUR CONVICTIONS

I will not be able to see all of the people of Elba within the short time of this campaign to express my views on many subjects. BUT - I urge each of you to vote your convictions, whether they be for me or either of my two opponents.

I might also add that I have not or can not promise anyone or any group anything except four years of service to the best of my ability.

Your vote and support will be greatly appreciated.

I'M SORRY THAT I HAVE NOT BEEN ABLE

To see each of you, but due to the fire & loss of part of my life earnings in my business, I have had so much to do it has been impossible for me to call by and talk to you as I would like to have done. Please let me use this means of soliciting your support in my behalf as candidate for Councilman-At-Large, City of Elba.

I hope you will remember me when you go to the polls.

BEEF CATTLE

Dr. J. W. Gossett, chairman of the Extension Animal Science Division at Auburn, had this to say recently concerning beef cattle. Quoting Dr. Gossett, he said, "Our biggest problem is the fact that no one is making much money in the cattle business. Cattle producers are a proud group of people and seldom complain, but I think it is time for all of us to face this problem head on and frankly discuss how improvements can be made."

Gossett points out that one way would be to increase the price; another would be to reduce production costs. Then he says neither one of these seems possible in the immediate future. He concluded by saying, "We have simply got to sell more pounds of calves at weaning time. This can be done by placing more emphasis on selecting replacement heifers that have bred-in-milk production and growth potential."

CATTLE INSECTS Extension Farm Agents J. R. Speed and Dan Presley and I notice a lot of cattle being really harassed by flies and other insects. Probably one of the most damaging insects to cattle is the cattle grub which is the larva of heel flies. It causes thousands of dollars worth of damage in Coffee County alone. To control use one of the animal systemics such as Co-Ral or Ruelene or Ronnell. Co-Ral and Ruelene can be used as sprays or as "pour-ons." Follow directions on container. The time to treat is August or September. I would suggest that all Coffee County farmers who haven't treated use either ple in Coffee County plant pine trees each year. This is a reminder that applications should be filed between now and September 1. A deposit representing one-half the total cost of the seedlings ordered must go with the application. Seedlings should be ordered on application blanks which can be obtained at our office or at the County Forest Ranger or the Soil Conservation offices. Prices on 1.0bolly and Slash pine seedlings are $4.50 per thousand. On longleaf and shortleaf the cost is $5.00 per thousand. Get in touch with us if we can help you place your order.

Taylor is offering a number of steers which are suitable for 4-H, FFA and Junior Cattleman members to place on feed. In addition to these, he will be offering a group of registered heifers which will be fine for anyone to buy but particularly good for young people interested in starting a young herd. Alabama Is Now Exporting 1/2 Egg Production Eighteen years ago Alabama couldn't produce enough eggs to meet its demands. Today state egg producers sell more than half their eggs to other states.

"In 1950 Alabama produced 718 million eggs and ranked 25th nationally," said Wilson Lee, Extension poultry specialist. "But by 1967 the state produced 2,645 million eggs and ranked 8th nationally."

"Income from eggs has increased rapidly," noted Lee. "from $15.2 million in 1950 to $83.4 million in 1967 - a 44 per cent increase. In 1967 there was a $2 million decrease from 1960 due to low prices."

"The number of shell breaking and processing plants in the state has risen from zero in 1957 to 11 today. The South now has 25 per cent of the nation's egg breaking and freezing plants," added Lee.

lowered greatly during the past 15 days by extremely hot and dry weather. This isn't news to the farmers who are growing the peanuts because they have seen them just literally burn up during the past few days. I surely hope that we can get adequate rainfall soon to take care of some of the peanuts that haven't been severely damaged.

I can't remember such an unusual year when we have just barely had enough rainfall to get by on. When the last rains came on about the 15th of July, I thought that we would continue to get them, but his hasn't been the case. Several communities notably Mt. Pleasant, New Hope, and areas at Goodman and Kinston and other localities have been extremely dry. Some communities are faring better than others.

COFFEE CONSERVATION
By G. L. EDWARDS

Water shortages are getting to be common place on Coffee County farms. Ponds and springs are drying up that have provided water for many years. In some areas of the county, the situation is critical.

District Supervisor, Marion Sanders, of Dothan has a good comparison of two water sources on his farm - a spring development and a small pond. The pond is dry for the first time in over ten years. The spring is still providing enough water for Sanders' large herd of cattle.

Dudley Littlejohn of the Woodland Grove Community has two spring developments on his farm. One goes dry periodically, and the other one has never gone dry. No water supply is permanent; not even a well, but there is less risk involved in a spring development than from any other source.

Many ponds are still providing adequate water for livestock and fish. Claude Sims says that the water is still running through the overflow pipe on his pond in the Clintonville Community. Littlejohn may not have water in the drought, but they won't get thirsty.

FOND FEVER STILL HIGH
It seems that about everybody with a piece of land wants to build a pond on it. Traffic to and from the SCS office is crowded with would-be pond builders.

The latest count, there were six dams under construction in the county. Progress on these dams range all the way from site clearing to almost completion. Five contractors are busy as a result of this pond building activity.

This group of pond builders include Hollis Brothers, Neal Johnson, Monroe Vynard, John Mack, Eugene Parizis, and H. C. McDaniel. Some are getting ACP cost-shares and some are paying all the cost. All are building according to SCS specifications and under our supervision.

GOOD HAY CROP
The number of hay producers in the county is increasing.

TALK ABOUT A COMBINE!

C. M. and Hollis Adams particularly like the easy way the low, wide header handles the vines without damaging the peanuts, how smoothly they flow through the combine, how thoroughly they are cleaned and separated. "The Lilliston 1500 sure gets the job done on time."

DISABLED WORKERS CAN RECEIVE SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS NOW

There are many disabled workers in this area who could receive Social Security payments by filing an application, states Harry N. Scott, Manager of the Dothan Social Security District.

Mr. Scott pointed out that many disabled workers still put off filing a social security claim for months, and sometimes years, after they become disabled. In a few cases the disabled person loses some payments because of the delay. "back payments" cannot be made for more than 12 months before the claim is filed, even though the person has been disabled for 2 or 3 years before this.

To receive disability benefits under the Social Security Law, two requirements must be met. First, the disability must be severe enough that it prevents the person from doing any substantial gainful work. The condition must be expected to last for at least 12 months or to result in death. Secondly, the disabled person must have worked and paid into social security for at least 5 years in the 10 year period before he became disabled. For persons 31 or younger, less work is required. Even though a person meets all these requirements, he still must file a claim. Scott emphasized that it is important to contact the social security office immediately when disability first occurs. By filing early, a claim can be made on the claim and the first check will arrive on time. For more information, contact the Social Security office in Dothan, Ala., at 100 West Troy Street, Dothan, Ala. 36001, Monday through Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon on Saturday.
